- Rajveer Jat is a great teacher whose knowledge of the material, advanced teaching strategies, and focus on students have consistently created an engaging and welcoming classroom atmosphere. Strong student relationships and growth are supported by their skilled instruction, open communication, and personalized feedback. The dedication of Rajveer Jat to continuous improvement through technology and professional interaction also shows their commitment to quality, making them a priceless resource for our educational community. I have one suggestion for you: you should not change the syllabus at the last minute as it becomes hard for students to adapt in the end if, in the beginning, you did not make them aware of the materials, but I appreciate how you consider and understand each student make it possible for each student. I appreciate your openness to understanding and changing possible and easy things for students.
- Instructor was overall very kind the grading. I really liked how the class is based on programming in R using data analysis. This is great because the market is full of these types of roles and he is pretty much helping us obtain skills used in the real world. I would recommend him to other students if he were a TA. Thank you for reading.
- The instructor was not only effective in teaching material that was directly applicable to the course, but also aided us in acquiring some important skills for the job market as they pertained to the lecture material.
